Progress Report 1
Group "final-project-13"

For the first objective, we compared our different solutions to the face tracking problem in project 3. The main difference in implementation, is that we will store an array of the midpoints instead of an array of bounding boxes, because the midpoints will allow us to calculate the placement of our transparent image.